

IN SATAN'S IMAGE

- Whatever your self-image, it is inaccurate!
- We can shift from one false self-image to another more desirable false self-image.
- The degree of our unhappiness is the distance between who we are and who we think we are.
- When others begin to relate to us according to who we are instead of according to our ego, our nakedness is exposed. (Satan shares this same fear!)
- As our self-image begins to resemble our true self, our relationships with others also grow stronger.

“Your only mistake is you confuse me with you.”
